The Cortland County Business Development Corporation (BDC) and Cortland County Industrial Development Agency (IDA) deliver assistance to companies, large and small, in Cortland County.

The mission of the BDC is to provide technical assistance to companies for the purposes of business expansion, to assist in the retention of businesses in Cortland County, and to market the County to attract new businesses. The BDC works across many sectors, ranging from manufacturing, to technology and agribusiness. The BDC assists with large scale business expansion projects, but also works with small enterprises to help them with new ventures by connecting them with resources like the SBDC at SUNY Binghamton for technical assistance in creating or refining business plans. In addition, the BDC works closely with businesses on putting together financing and identifying other resources for projects in partnership with the US Small Business Administration, the New York Business Development Corporation, local banks, and Empire State Development which is New York State's economic development agency. In partnership with Empire State Development, the BDC serves as a conduit for programs that include:

- Business development assistance
- Energy cost assistance
- Financing for fixed assets, working capital and infrastructure development
- International trade development
- Market development assistance
- Permitting and regulatory assistance
- Recycling and waste reduction assistance
- Research development and product commercialization assistance
- Small business development assistance
- Tax benefits
- Venture capital

The BDC/IDA also administers a Revolving Loan Program which directly funds small business expansions, with priority given to manufacturing or production, or high-end service businesses that will produce jobs with higher wages.

A major new activity for the BDC is the administration of Cortland's new Empire Zone program which offers companies an array of benefits, including:

- Wage tax credits
- Investment tax credits
- Real property tax credits
- Sales tax exemptions
- Tax reduction credit
- Utility rate discounts and more

The mission of the IDA is to deliver financial incentives to companies for larger scale projects that produce significant investment and job creation through mechanisms allowed under New York State legislation that governs IDA's. These incentives are delivered in the form of payments in lieu of taxes (PILOTS) to companies that offer significant tax benefits. The IDA is also authorized to issue taxable and tax-exempt Industrial Revenue Bonds to directly finance projects. In addition, the IDA often serves as a conduit for grants from New York State and the federal government to facilitate certain business development projects.
